Period for Reply

A SHORTENED STATUTORY PERIOD FOR REPLY IS SET TO EXPIRE 3 MONTH(S) OR THIRTY (30) DAYS, WHICHEVER IS LONGER, FROM THE MAILING DATE OF THIS COMMUNICATION.

- Extensions of time may be available under the provisions of 37 CFR 1.136(a). In no event, however, may a reply be timely filed after SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- If NO period for reply is specified above, the maximum statutory period will apply and will expire SIX (6) MONTHS from the mailing date of this communication.
- Failure to reply within the set or extended period for reply will, by statute, cause the application to become ABANDONED (35 U.S.C. § 133). Any reply received by the Office later than three months after the mailing date of this communication, even if timely filed, may reduce any earned patent term adjustment. See 37 CFR 1.704(b).

Status

Response to Arguments

1. Applicant's arguments with respect to claims 1-13 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

2. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

3. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

4. Claims 1-13 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yamada et al in view of either Maruyama et al or True et al.

Yamada et al discloses a recording/reproducing apparatus that shows substantially the same limitations recited in claims 1, 4, 7, and 10, including the feature of having a plural set of image data recorded on a recording medium and thumbnail images of selected representative images being also recorded on the recording medium as specified in the present claims 1, 4, 7, and 10. (See Yamada et al's claim 49, last paragraph, section (ii), where it is disclosed thumbnail information including information pertaining to a plurality of representative images of the image files being recorded on the recording medium).

Yamada et al fails to specifically disclose the feature of attaching thumbnail images of the representative images to the surface of the storage medium disk as specified in the present claims 1, 4, 7, and 10-13.

Both Maruyama et al and True et al disclose a video content browsing apparatus, which includes the capability of attaching thumbnail images to a storage medium as specified in the present claims 1, 4, 7, and 10-13. Applicant's attention is directed to Maruyama et al's page 17, paragraph [0310], and True et al's Figures 1-3.

It would have been obvious to one skilled in the art to modify the Yamada et al's apparatus wherein the storage recording means provided thereof would incorporate the capability of attaching thumbnail images to the storage medium in the same conventional manner as shown by either Maruyama et al or True et al. The motivation is to make the summary of the recorded content information on the storage medium available to the user by looking at the storage medium as suggested by both Maruyama et al and True et al.

With regard to claims 2-3, 5-6, 8-9, the feature of selecting the representative image data based on predetermined data or degree of similarity of the set of image data as specified thereof would be inherently present in the cited reference of Yamada et al's apparatus. Because, the Yamada et al's reference discloses that the user has the capability of selecting representative data as desired as shown in Figures 2, and 3, of Yamada et al. Therefore, the user can always look for similarity of the image data in selecting the representative image data as desired.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

5. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

6. Claims 1, 4, 7, and 10-13, are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by both Maruyama et al and True et al.

Both Maruyama et al and True et al disclose a recording/reproducing apparatus that shows substantially the same limitations recited in claims 1, 4, 7, and 10-13, including the feature of having a plural set of image data recorded on a recording medium and thumbnail images of selected representative images being also recorded on the recording medium as specified in the present claims 1, 4, 7, and 10-13, and furthermore, the feature of attaching thumbnail images of the representative images to the surface of the storage medium disk as specified in the present claims 1, 4, 7, and 10-13. Applicant's attention is directed to Maruyama et al's page 17, paragraph [0310], and True et al's Figures 1-3.

Conclusion

7. Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.

8. Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Bob Chevalier whose telephone number is 571-272-7374. The examiner can normally be reached on MM-F (9:00-6:30), second Monday off.

If attempts to reach the examiner by telephone are unsuccessful, the examiner's supervisor, Thai Tran can be reached on 571-272-7382. The fax phone number for the organization where this application or proceeding is assigned is 571-273-8300.
